

NEED LEGAL HELP?

Learn about the ACLU of Northern California's Legal Intake Program

Program overview:

- The ACLU defends civil rights and civil liberties. It is not a legal aid or direct services organization, and takes only a small number of high impact cases to protect fundamental civil rights and individual liberties, but our trained volunteer intake counselors can often refer you to an appropriate organization or resource.
- ACLU NorCal covers the Northern California region. If your incident occurred elsewhere, you can find another local office. Find your local office at www.aclu.org/about/affiliates.
- Please do not turn to the ACLU if you have an immediate problem, such as a court hearing next week. Your intake will be reviewed to determine whether it is a civil liberties problem ACLU NorCal may be able to help with, and this can take up to a few weeks.
- Please also note that we prioritize hearing from the person who is directly impacted by a civil liberties/civil rights violation. Feel free to share this flyer with those who may need to contact us.

Different ways to get in touch:

Phone

Call us Monday-Friday
10am - noon & 1pm - 3pm
English & Español (415) 621-2488

Online form

English & Español
<https://intake.aclunc.org>

Write to us

Send a physical letter, briefly outlining your situation, to:

Civil Liberties Intake Program
ACLU of Northern California
39 Drumm St.
San Francisco, CA 94111

More about getting legal help:

- The ACLU does not accept walk-ins
- Learn more about legal help at www.aclunc.org/our-work/get-help
- Know Your Rights
Learn more about your civil liberties at www.aclunc.org/KYR

ACLU

Northern California

